HON. BRUTUS CLAY SPEAKS HERE

Hon. Brutus Clay, of Richmond, addressed the voters of Berea and vicinity in the College Chapel Saturday night. He also spoke in the Vocational Chapel in the afternoon.

Mr. Clay is a son of Kentucky's renowned statesman, Cassius M. Clay, and is a worthy representative of that famous family.

He spoke in Berea in the interest of Mr. Hughes in the coming presidential election. Altho the speaker presented the blunders of the Administration in glaring terms, at the same time defending the reactionary record of Mr. Hughes as Governor of New York, he was able to arouse little interest on the part of his hearers. They did not seem to take his knocking of the President at all seriously. In the face of an audience manifestly in deep sympathy with Woodrow Wilson, the speaker presented the issue raised by the Republican party in an able and forceful manner. The speech was worthy of the cause it presented. The speaker insisted fervently that we are at present engaged in war with Mexico, Haiti, San Domingo and Honduras, drawing the conclusion that the peace cry of the Democrats is futile. He advocated a high tariff and condemned the Adamson Bill. Berea is fortunate in having such an able exposition of the claims of the Republican party. Our voters may vote more intelligently.

Sometimes people imagine that they want something and when in possession find that they were mistaken. "Give us the ballot," was the demand of the women, God bless 'em. They were allowed in Kentucky to vote in school elections. In Louisville in 1912, the first year they voted, 12,717 registered. In 1914 only 6,389 registered. This year the number is 4,318. Was the ballot merely a toy that most women tire of in a few years? It would seem so.
